LOST—2 lambs and a yearling ewe in the field near Chatterley's residence. If found notify Jose A. Cisneros.

Last Saturday the thermometer registered as low as 32 degrees above zero. That's a good start for a cold winter.

If you have settled your taxes, all right, begin to save now to make that land payment which comes due January 1, 1912.

The pipe for the State test well has arrived and Mr. Halterman, the contractor, will begin drilling at once.

Bp. Ek of the 25th Ward of Salt Lake City has been in Cedar the past few days soliciting orders for monuments.

J. L. Sevy of Panguitch was in town last Saturday on business. He left here for Salt Lake City where he will spend the winter with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. James Knell of New Castle came over Sunday to bring Mrs. Lottie Perkins, who has been visiting with them for some time. They returned to their home Thursday.

Last week F. W. Middleton purchased the "Kentucky saddle" owned by J. W. Inlay, of Hurricane. He also bought the $75. saddle that was made especially for the horse.

Friday night this section of country was visited with a light fall of snow. After the storm Saturday morning it turned out extremely cold and continued so until Tuesday of this week.

The East Ward Primary gave a surprise party last Saturday afternoon in honor of their outgoing president, Anna Middleton. The time was spent playing games, dancing and partaking of cake and ice cream. To show their appreciation of Miss Middleton's work with them the officers and children presented her with a silver set.

Friday evening of last week several friends of Mrs. Naomi Nelson wife of John Nelson, tendered her a surprise. The evening was spent in social chat, games and singing. About 10:30 the guests partook of a bounteous supper. All who were there spent a very enjoyable evening and felt well repaid for the time spent.

The Salt Lake dailies say, now the election is over, "Peace, Progress and Plenty for Salt Lake City." Huh! They said the same thing when Bransford was elected mayor two years ago. And, by the way, in referring back to four years ago, the same assertion was made. Funny how those Salt Lake dailies have to hang on to the same old remark. Better break away and give us something new.

Several people state they have caught lagrippe. They should say that lagrippe has caught them.

The Socialist treasurer-elect will be unable to hold office for the reason he was not a qualified elector at the time of election.

The West Ward Primary has been reorganized and the following officers appointed: Mrs. Eliza Parry, president; Mrs. Catherine Leigh, 1st counsellor; Mrs. Mollie Palmer, 2nd counsellor; Manetta Bauer, secretary; Hortense Woodbury, librarian; Irene Jones, chorister; Mary Urie, organist. The new officers desire the parents of the West Ward to help them to make the Primary successful by sending their children each Saturday afternoon.

Hard To Believe.

The other day E. M. Corry and H. E. Peterson returned from a deer hunting trip and report success. To our reporter, knowing these gentlemen as he does, it is a hard matter to believe their story. Yet the law of the country says that a man is believed innocent until proven guilty, and as there are no means of proving them guilty of fabricating, our citizens will have to believe they have told the truth.

A reader makes complaint that this sheet does not mention the visitors who come to town. If this was done the Record would have to consume one half the space at its command. Cedar is now a metropolitan city, and it is not customary to mention all who come within the confines of such a place. What would the Salt Lake papers do if mention was made of all who visit that burg? Guess our reader will have to continue "kicking" as the Record cannot do as he wishes it to do.

Difference of Opinion.

Colorado Springs, Colo.—"It's the difference of opinion that makes horse races" says David Harum. By the same token, things are always made interesting when a few dry-farmers get together for a comparison of systems. At the recent International Dry Farming Congress here half the discussions concerned the relative merits of various varieties of wheat for the dry farm. Now comes Prof. E. H. Webster, dean of the Kansas Agricultural College, and announces himself as "ferminist" them all.

"The wheat farmer has no place in the development of the dry-farming area," he says, "The general failure to recognize this fact has caused untold suffering and loss to settlers who were enticed by misleading statements to occupy this country with the hope of growing wheat for profit. Wheat farming has certain requirements of moisture and temperature which are imperative, or the crop fails. The region between the 100th meridian and the Rocky Mountains has proved its entire unreliability in this respect. It is destined, however, to become one of the greatest producing centers for live stock in America."

"The transition from the open range to the abandoned wheat farm has taught that forage crops are, to a workable degree, sure; that kafir, milo and sorghum will produce sufficient grain for the needs of the stock farmer; that the capacity of this region to carry live stock can be
